

Wednesday Consolidation Meeting Set; Architect Contract Let for New School

Junior High Here Will Cost About 2 Million

Building in Area of Stadium May Be Ready for '58 September Term

Augustus R. Schrowang was awarded a contract as architect for the proposed 1,000-pupil junior high school in the Dietz Stadium area by the Kingston Board of Education Monday night.

The board hopes to begin construction of the new school in the spring of 1957 with completion by Sept. 1958.

The new school, consisting of Grades 7, 8 and 9, will cost an estimated $2,000,000.

THE CONTRACT with Mr. Schrowang provides for an association with another architectural firm specializing in school construction. This consulting architect must be approved by the board of education and the State Education Department.

The architect's fee will be six per cent. He will provide his own clerk of the works with no additional cost to the board. A clerk of the works remains on the job eight hours a day to insure that proper materials are used according to plans and specifications. It was the consensus that such a position was highly important in a major project such as this.

President Robert Herzog pointed out that the proposed school would be located on high ground between Forsyth Park and Dietz Stadium, according to present thinking. This assumes, of course, that deed to the land for a school site can be obtained.

HE EXPLAINED that the school would probably require only 30, 40 or 50 feet of park land and would not "infringe" on any portion of the park actually in use.

The board took cognizance of a letter from Corporation Counsel James Abernethy advising that in his opinion it was legally possible to obtain the land as a site but that acquisition of such a deed presented a number of legal problems, including possible action by the state legislature and release or condemnation of "rights of reverter."

The corporation counsel was authorized to employ some one to make the necessary search of title.

THE PROPERTY was deeded to the city some years ago by the Forsyth family for use as a park, with the understanding that the land would revert to Forsyth heirs once it ceased to be so used.

Mr. Schrowang was one of four local architects appearing before the board last night. Others were Harry Halverson, Gerard Betz and Albert Edward Milliken.

THE IMPORTANCE of a specialist in school architecture was stressed by the board in specifying that the local architect associate himself with such a firm.

Members of the board pointed out that schools have been changing rapidly in recent years with many signal improvements in plant construction. It is the desire of the board to enjoy the full advantage of such progress in the proposed junior high school.

AT PRESENT the Myron J. Michael junior high school has approximately 900 students. Its effective capacity is reportedly 700 students.

In the event the proposed Greater Kingston School District is approved it would mean approximately 2,700 students at the junior high school level. A third junior high school would probably have to be built, it is reported.

Students Start Putting Dials on Area Telephones

Thirty area college students who have temporarily replaced their textbooks and slide rules with the tools of telephone installer-repairmen are playing an important role in the New York Telephone Company's dial program for Kingston and Saugerties.

Today they began putting dials on residence and business telephones in preparation for the introduction of dial service in both communities late next year.

By August 31 when they leave the telephone company to return to school the students will have installed dials on 10,000 telephones, which represent a little less than half of all telephones in the two communities.

Farsighted planning by the telephone company has already accounted for dials being placed on nearly 6,000 telephones. During the last several months dial instruments have been installed for new telephone customers and

School Budget Is $2,648,932, Tax Rate $4.72 Over Last Year

A final budget of $2,648,932 was approved Monday night by the Kingston Board of Education for the school year 1956-57 with a tax rate of $31.36 per thousand.

This tax rate is an increase of $4.72 over last year's rate of $26.64.

TAXES WILL be levied on $1,050,227.

The final budget was approximately $150,000 more than the tentative budget. Detailed reasons for this increase were listed.

The budget breaks down as follows: General control, $64,865; instructional services, $1,529,680; operation of plant, $202,102; maintenance of plant, $101,180; auxiliary agencies $88,350; fixed charges, $251,505; debt service, $212,450; and capital outlay, $193,800.

THE FOLLOWING increases in the tentative budget were listed:

General control—$3,325 for increase to city for its services in collecting school taxes, for increase in superintendent's salary and increase of audit amount.

Instructional services—$11,180, a revised figure based on actual salaries of all positions at present filled.

Operation of plant—$9,000 for salaries for snow removed and overtime omitted from tentative budget.

Auxiliary agencies—$1,350 for increase of nurses' salaries beyond the 1955-56 level.

Fixed charges—$7,627 for insurance appraisal, increase of reserve for uncollected taxes as a result of other increases.

Capital outlay—$115,000 for architect's fee on the proposed junior high school in the Dietz stadium area, the addition of our classrooms in the vocational building and proposed purchase of property in the vicinity of the Myron J. Michael School.

THE BOARD ACCEPTED with regret the resignation of Mrs. Anna Hornbeck, cook at School 2, Michael J. P. Starrs, a teacher of English in the high school, and Robert J. Bernhart, who teaches a special class. Mr. Bernhart is resigning in order to accept a position in the elementary system at an annual salary of $4,450, it was explained.

In addition to Mr. Bernhart, the following appointments were approved:

Mrs. JoAn Macdonald, elementary, $4,450; Miss Lena Maggione, Latin, $5,700; Miss Ann Marie Roach, English, $3,700; Edward Ward, special class, $4,000; Mrs. Eleanor White, cook at School 2, $1,650, and Markian S. Baczynsky, instrumental music, $4,200. The board also approved an increase of $200 in the salary of Mrs. Mary Danford as head teacher in School 8.

Mrs. Rhoda Mones was granted maternity leave from Sept., 1956, to Sept., 1958.

THE BOARD APPROVED attendance of Warren Russell at the New York State Audio-visual Council, Rochester, July 13-14. It also granted travel of district has been reflected in the school enrollment and many new residents have moved into the area, "most of whom have children of school or pre-school age."

A $185,000 addition to the school was completed last January and includes a kindergarten, three classrooms and an all-purpose room.

The latest census of school and pre-school age children shows, he said, a need for five additional classrooms to be completed and ready for occupancy on September 1, 1957.

Beginning this fall seventh and eighth grade students will be sent to the Myron J. Michael School in Kingston and the cafeteria will have to be used for a sixth grade classroom, it was explained.

Mr. Gill said 12 pupils were graduated from the school this spring and 47 youngsters will enter kindergarten in the fall.

It was explained that increased growth of the school reach of most people, are now common conveniences. More people own electric refrigerators, washing machines, and automobiles than ever before. They eat better and live better.

Locally, the chief factor in the bigger spending was the high earnings per family in 1955. The survey shows that Kingston families had a combined income in the year, after personal taxes, of $46,121,000, compared with $45,724,000 in 1954.

The income figure, divided by the number of local families, shows net earnings of $5,000 per family in Kingston. The figure is an arithmetical average.

The fact that the local sales volume was more than the income shows that much of the purchasing was done by people who came in from the surrounding area.

Just how well individual communities stack up economically in comparison with others is brought out in a "quality index," which is a measure of purchasing ability. It is a rating based on size, incomes, sales and other factors. For Kingston, the index rating is 120, or 20 percent above the national average.

The spending pattern, no longer to be considered a buying spree, reflects the economic changes of recent years. What were once costly luxuries, out of reach of most people, are now common conveniences. More people own electric refrigerators, washing machines, and automobiles than ever before. They eat better and live better.

Missouri Synod Forms Link With Other Lutherans

St. Paul, Minn., June 26 (AP)—Despite criticism by a sister church, the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod has entered what is destined to be a short-lived doctrinal affiliation with the American Lutheran Church (ALC).

The Synod adopted a "common confession" with the ALC yesterday, then voted two resolutions to soothe its relationships with the Lutheran Church-Wisconsin Synod.

AFTER SEVERAL years of negotiations, the Synod gave final approval to the common confession of doctrines with the ALC, but noted a forthcoming merger into which the ALC is entering will negate the effectiveness of the compact.

The American Lutheran Church plans to unite in 1960 with the Evangelical Lutheran Church and the United Evangelical Lutheran Church. Because of this, the Missouri Synod 43rd Triennial Convention decided the common confession "should no longer be regarded or employed as a functioning basic document in any further endeavor to achieve doctrinal unity with church bodies."

The Wisconsin Synod had criticized the Missouri Synod for entering doctrinal negotiations with the ALC. The Wisconsin Church had not been invited to join in the discussions.

ONE RESOLUTION adopted by the Missouri Synod's delegates yesterday invited other Synods within the Lutheran Synodical Conference, including the Wisconsin Church, to join in producing a "clear comprehensive statement concerning doctrine and practice for today."

The other agrees "not to enter discussions or negotiations with Lutheran Synods without having informed the sister Synods of the Synodical Conference of our intentions and without having invited and urged them to join with us in these discussions."

The secretary of the Synodical Conference, the Rev. Dr. Martin Franzman of St. Louis said the resolutions "breathe a spirit of repentance, a spirit of charity and hold great promise."

New Hot-and-Cold Bags Boon to Picnic Eating

THIS LITTLE picnicker is unpacking both hot and cold food from a new smartly designed insulated bag.

By GAYNOR MADDOX, NEA Food and Markets Editor

We plan to take a hot and cold lunch in the car over the Fourth and enjoy it in a green tree-shaded hillside.

Yes, hot fried chicken, a hot casserole of scalloped potatoes and heated rolls go in one insulated compartment of our new and very snappy two-temperature koreal bag insulated with fiber glass. Food stays hot in it 4 to 6 hours. In the other compartment there will be a mixed vegetable salad, chilled watermelon for us and a carton of ice cream for the two boys. The cold things stay cold 6 to 8 hours.

This bag has two watertight insulated inner carriers that fit into a large outer insulated bag 21 inches by 11 inches by 11 inches, with handle. Therefore, actually we have three bags if we need them. This boon to outdoor eating comes in seven different colors. Ours is in a black embossed material with square basket weave pattern.

How about a batch of brownies for that "Fourth" outing?

Brownies (Makes 16 2-inch squares)

Two squares unsweetened chocolate (2 ounces), 1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 3/4 cup sifted flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 cup broken nuts.

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. (moderate). Melt chocolate and shortening together over hot water. Remove from heat and beat in sugar and eggs. Sift together and beat in flour, baking powder and salt. Mix in nuts. Spread in well-greased square pan 8x8x2 inches. Bake until a light touch with finger leaves slight imprint, 30 to 35 minutes. Cool slightly, then cut into squares.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Cantaloupe cup, beef and veal loaf, mushroom sauce, baked potatoes, quick cooked new cabbage, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, blueberries, cream, brownies, coffee, tea, milk.

FYI: Nappy Two-Temp—made by Nappe Smith Manufacturing Co., Farmingdale, N. J. At department stores—about $12.95.

South should pass East's daring bid of four spades in today's hand. North would double, and four spades would be set two tricks. The actual result was more exciting.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of spades, ruffed a spade, and led out two top trumps. East discarded the queen of diamonds, and South wished he hadn't bid so much.

Declarer next took the ace of diamonds and led a diamond to the king. West discarded a spade. A third round of trumps then handed the lead over to West.

What would you return if you were West? Think before you answer.

A spade is no good. Dummy ruffs, while South discards the losing diamond. Now a low club is led from dummy, and South plays as cheaply as possible to keep East out. West must win the trick and is end-played again.

West couldn't have improved matters by leading a low club. East puts up the jack, and South wins with the queen. Dummy takes the club ace, and West is thrown in with the third round of clubs for the second end-play. West can get out only by leading the king or ten of clubs. West can manage to let his partner win the third round of clubs, and then East can cash a diamond trick.

When the hand was actually played, I regret to report, West tried to get out of the first end-play with a low club, and South made his over-ambitious contract. Sometimes crime does pay, at the bridge table at any rate.

Tokens for Bus Drivers

Springfield, Ma. (AP)—Johnny Jones, a bus driver, collects more bus tokens when he's out of the driver's seat than when at the wheel. Jones is a vulturist. Vulturists collect bus tokens for a hobby. They also collect any other kind of transit token they can get their hands on. He has tokens from each state and every U. S. possession. They are all sizes and shapes: stars, diamonds, crescents, ovals, and some that defy geometrical classification. There are tokens used all the way back in the mid-1800s. But the one that really is his favorite comes from a small California town. It dangles from the end of his watch chain. The token has a big "V" in the center and the legend around the initial reads: "Jones Transportation Company." Well, bus drivers can dream, too.

YMCA Day Camp Opens With 143

The 14th YMCA Day Camp opened yesterday at DeWitt Lake with a record registration of 143 boys and girls, it was announced today by Lou Schafer, camp director.

Mr. Schafer, Bill Ireland, who also directs the camp program and 16 counsellors, had made preparations for opening the camp with 125 boys and girls but the enrollment increased through weekend registrations, he said.

THE CAMP gives every child a well-rounded camping program, Mr. Schafer said, which includes swimming instructions, craft work and five acres of numerous pieces of playground apparatus.

Particular emphasis is placed on waterfront safety, he said, and a roll call is taken three or four times during every swim period.

The increased population in the area is reflected in the registration figures, he said, but there will be openings "during any of the next six weeks."

THE DAY CAMP committee is headed by Elmer A. Ryland. Other members of the committee include George Silkworth, Addison Jones, Earl Soper, Chester Baltz, Jr., and Ralph Sampson.

The YMCA is an agency member of the Kingston Area Community Chest.

St. James Church Renovations Are Started Monday

The first steps in a renovation program at St. James Methodist Church (Fair and Pearl streets) were started Monday when pews were removed from the sanctuary.

During July worship services will be held each Sunday in the Sunday school auditorium while the rest of the renovation program is in progress.

The sanctuary floor will be reconstructed and further carpentry work done in the chancel. New choir screens and a communion rail also will be installed. At the conclusion of the painting and refinishing of all the woodwork, new wall-to-wall carpeting will be laid. Pew cushions will be recovered and a new drapery will be hung.

It is expected that the sanctuary will be ready for occupancy late in September.

The renovation program will be completed in the educational section of the building.

All the work is made possible by the congregation's subscriptions raised during May in a campaign directed by C. Agnew Demarest of St. Petersburg, Fla.

No Discrimination Now

Albany, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—An investigation of the Erie county penitentiary showed there had been some racial discrimination in treatment of prisoners, Correction Commissioner Thomas J. McHugh reported today. However, McHugh said, there is "no evidence" of discrimination in the prison "at the present time." And he asserted that, while "such practices existed previously," the probe disclosed that "they were the results of activities by individuals and were not the result of deliberate administrative policy."

Living Costs Up

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Living costs rose sharply in May, sending the government's index to a level equalling the all-time peak of October 1953. The Labor Department's Bureau of Statistics said the index rose four-tenths of one per cent to 115.4 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This is 1.1 per cent above May last year and is the same that was reached in October, 1953.

County Court Is Adjourned Until Monday, July 2

Jurors for the adjourned April term of County Court were excused Monday afternoon when it was found no additional civil cases were ready. Two additional civil cases were announced settled and several criminal matters were before County Judge Louis G. Bruhn. The court adjourned without a jury until July 2 at 2 p. m.

Announced as settled, bringing the total number of civil cases disposed of at the term to 51, were No. 106, Helen Scheid against Angelina DiPeri and another, negligence, Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendant. No. 109, Benjamin Ehrlich and another against Harold T. Meredith, negligence, Earl H. Houghtaling, Jr., for plaintiff, Clifford M. Barber for defendant.

Harry Edward Litts Jr., 20, charged with burglary, third degree, and unlawful entry, appeared in court for assignment of counsel. Francis Tucker was assigned. A former plea of innocent was continued. 20 days granted for motions and a copy of the indictment will be supplied.

Remus Hobbs, charged with assault, second degree, also appeared for assignment of counsel and John Schick was assigned. The plea of innocent formerly entered was continued and 20 days for motions allowed.

John Anthony Barnhart, charged with attempted burglary, third degree, and unlawfully attempting to enter a building, had James Abernethy assigned and his former plea of innocent was continued 20 days for motions and a copy of the indictment will be supplied counsel.

Imposition of any sentence was suspended in the case of Perry Craft, formerly of New Paltz, who was charged with violation of Section 483. Charles Saccoman appeared and asked for suspension of sentence since the defendant was now out of the state and the complainant did not wish to press the charge. A plea of guilty was entered and Craft was warned to stay out of the state.

William Bernard Callahan, also known as William Ryan, charged with grand larceny, second degree, entered a plea of guilty to petit larceny and will be sentenced on July 2 at 2 o'clock. William D. Brinnier appeared for defendant.

Roland Bailey, 17, charged with grand larceny, second degree, for the alleged taking of a car owned by Kenneth Egan, February 26, 1956, entered a plea of innocent to being a youthful offender and his case will be disposed of under the Youthful Offender statute. Charles Saccoman appeared for defendant. The indictment was ordered sealed.

In dismissing the jurors, Judge Bruhn thanked them for their attendance and said they had experienced several hot days in the court room but that by the time they again served the court room would be more comfortable after air conditioning is installed.

20 Are Arrested In Batista Plot

Mexico City, June 26 (AP)—Mexican police say the arrest of 20 Cuban exiles has brought to light a well planned, widespread plot to kill Cuba's President Fulgencio Batista.

Target date for the assassination attempt was late July, officials reported, with simultaneous uprisings planned in Havana and 10 key cities.

Informed sources said a report of the investigation alleged that exiles from Argentina, Peru, Panama, Guatemala, Costa Rica, the Dominican Republic, veterans of the Spanish Civil War and others were involved.

They said the investigators also stated that seized correspondence showed affiliated groups were operating in Miami and Tampa, Fla., New York, Costa Rica, Panama, Guatemala and in various Cuban cities. There was no suggestion of Communist involvement, however. And officials said former Cuban President Carlo Prio Socarras, now a refugee in Miami, also was not implicated.

BICYCLISTS NEED PROTECTION

Recently a number of bicyclists have been involved in accidents on our city streets. With the number of motor vehicles on the city streets, it is increasingly difficult today for bicyclists to operate in safety.

Laws that prohibit riding bicycles on the sidewalks date back many years to a time when the sidewalks were heavily used and there was relatively few vehicles on the streets.

The automobile has changed all that. More people now move about by car than afoot. In some residential areas, the sidewalks are scarcely used. The same laws that once protected pedestrians from unexpected assault by bicycle now have the odd effect of keeping bike-riding children in the streets. There the children, even small ones who wobble and weave on bikes, take their chances amidst zooming cars and trucks. The cyclists, and not the pedestrians, are the ones who have a hazardous time of it.

This curious change in the situation suggests that the time may have to come to let the bicycles back onto the sidewalks where they will be safe from the cars.

Add life's inconsistencies: Little old lady mowing a big lawn with a hand mower; husky young man buzzing around a postage stamp lawn with a power mower.

FOR SAFER SWIMMING

Drowning will be the cause of 1,200 deaths among the 15 to 24 year-old group this year, the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company predicts. Drownings, among this group, are exceeded only by auto fatalities in shocking frequency.

The Institute has found that because the young adult is likely to become confident and feel superior to the observance of simple safety rules in swimming, he is tempted to take chances. Here are some rules prepared by the Institute for Safer Living especially for young adults:

Avoid the temptation of being a clown in the water.

Diving takes real skill and caution. Find out first whether the water is deep enough and whether hidden rocks or stumps are lurking beneath the surface to produce a hazardous diving area.

Abide by the often quoted rule: after eating, wait at least one hour before going into the water.

Avoid swimming alone. Night dips are dangerous.

Don't overdo yourself. When you swim out from shore, remember you have to swim back.

That story of the giant sea turtle in the North Atlantic might be taken more seriously if the name of the Liberian freighter which reported it weren't "Rhapsody."

VACATION READERS

The vacation reader, lolling in a hammock and nibbling his way through some literary confection, has been the butt of humorists for many years. They like to poke fun at this fellow, who is supposed never to indulge in anything heavier than, say, "The Case of the Pot-bellied Porter."

But the vacation reader has the last laugh. For, whether deliberately or by accident, he has hit upon one of the most pleasant ways to spend idle summer hours. The fact that he may be informing himself and broadening his intellectual horizons at the same time only adds to the pleasure.

To speak of the vacation reader conjures up a picture of a man or woman of middle years and spreading middle ensclosed in a resort lounge chair. Actually, the summer reader may be anyone from Grandpa, in a breezeway rocker going through Dickens again, to a third grade boy trudging home with an armload of library treasure.

We even know one fellow who likes to get out onto a lake on one of those plastic air mats and read a book perched on his diaphragm. The librarian might not look with favor on this unorthodox behavior, but she need have no fear. This man is a genuine

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY
THE AFL-CIO

One of the most serious problems facing the united AFL-CIO is whether it is to go the American Federation of Labor road or the C.I.O. road. In any merger of two organizations as different in philosophy and history, one is likely to predominate, although it is usually hoped that a compromise, a middle-of-the-road way will be found. The election of George Meany to the Presidency of the AFL-CIO gave the impression that the American Federation of Labor concept would prevail, which would mean that American organized labor would be anti-Communist not only in the United States but throughout the world and particularly in international labor organizations.

The 10th Congress of the Communist Party of Soviet Russia has made a considerable difference in attitude among labor leaders, even anti-Communist labor leaders. This Congress was a major propaganda effort designed to weaker resistance to Russia on the part of socialists, liberals and labor leaders throughout the world. Too many of such persons are weary of the constant quarrels inside the labor movement between those who are pro-Communist and those who are anti-Communist and those who stand in between and do not know where to go. Therefore, they have been willing to accept Khrushchev's anti-Stalinism, if not as a sincere statement, at any rate as one that serves their purpose. Some may wonder why it took Khrushchev so long to discover the evils of Stalin, but the general attitude is that it is better to let the record stand, that Stalin was no good and Khrushchev said it.

The result in the AFL-CIO is that there is some criticism of George Meany's intense and forthright pro-Americanism and anti-Communism and there is some leaning toward Walter Reuther's socialistic attitude which is more conciliatory.

For instance, a letter from George Meany to K. Franas Tripathi, General Secretary of the Indian National Trade Union Congress, has been widely distributed in American labor circles. This letter contains the following paragraph: "Brother Tripathi, I hope that you now realize how ill-advised you were to condemn my appeal to liberals, like Prime Minister Nehru, to take the lead in the struggle against Communism. You know better than I do that the Soviet despot Khrushchev and Bulganin flagrantly violated elementary international ethics and abused the hospitality of your country when they exploited its Parliament as a platform from which to vilify the very democratic forces which have been and continue to be most helpful to the people of India in their splendid efforts to build a strong and prosperous democracy—a democracy which will be a great source of hope and freedom throughout Asia."

Whereas this was written before Khrushchev's attack on Stalin, it is a correct position and nothing has happened to require changing a word of it. Nevertheless, Reuther went to India, praised everything he saw and heard and came away with flowers in his hair. Reuther is regarded in the labor world as planning to be George Meany's successor and not in the too distant future. Meany also said in this letter:

"The friendship of the American people for the people of India has never been late or little. The democratic approach I have suggested for resolving controversies in our ranks is vital to the continued growth of this friendship between your country and mine. It is also essential to the unity and effectiveness of the international free trade union movement."

It is gratifying to find a labor leader who will stand up for the United States when it is attacked and who has the courage to show to other peoples a united front with other Americans. Too many of those who go abroad feel that the way to make friends is to praise them even when they vilify our country. Some crave popularity by over-emphasizing American shortcomings among other peoples who already have doubts as to our position. In his letter to the Indian labor leader, he painted Khrushchev and Bulganin as the hooligans they are and he spoke of his own country as a patriotic American should. The essence of this situation is the existence of the World Federation of Trade Unions which is Communist-dominated. The pull now is in the direction of the American unions joining this body.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

HEPARIN IN TREATMENT OF DEAFNESS
We have been hearing or reading, more and more of late, about the use of a particular drug in the treatment of a condition entirely different from that in which it had been initially used. One example of this is insulin, originally, and, of course, still, used in the treatment of diabetes, but now used for such a widely different condition as loss of appetite.

Now we read in the French Medical Press of the use of heparin in the treatment of deafness, tinnitus (ringing in the ears) and dizziness. Heparin is a substance used to prevent the blood coagulating (clotting) and has been used widely in cases of coronary thrombosis (formation of a blood clot in a coronary blood vessel).

French research workers have found that heparin is suitable for the treatment of certain patients with disturbances of the inner ear because it disperses blood vessels, thus opening up blood vessels, favors the reabsorption of material deposited in or on a tissue by disease. The authors report their results on 100 patients. The treatment proved not to be dangerous but it seemed essential that they be hospitalized. The best method of giving heparin was found to be 250 or 300 mg. a day for eight days.

What were their results? Deafness was immediately improved in 16 per cent of cases, tinnitus was improved in 59 per cent, and vertigo (dizziness) in 66.6 per cent. Usually, but not always, the results are maintained during the months that follow. They are particularly good in patients who have suffered a head injury provided treatment is begun early—that is, about a month after the injury.

Heparin treatment has another use in that it serves the purpose of separating the disorders due to injury of the sensory (pertaining to sensation) cells from those disorders due to involvement of the blood vessels and connective tissues within the ears.

These workers feel that while it is pointless to use heparin in almost total deafness, nevertheless it should be tried when other treatments have lost their effect. Large doses must be given. "Surprising results sometimes occur in deafness and more than half of patients with inner ear disorders receive some benefit."

The make-up and function of the human body is still such a great mystery in so many ways that no one can say truly that certain conditions cannot be helped by various forms of treatment until they have been actually given a trial in a large enough number of cases. To restore hearing to some one who has been deaf is a wonderful thing to accomplish.

Never Had It So Good

Edson's Washington News Notebook

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — They held a farewell dinner here the other night for Assistant Attorney General Stanley N. Barnes — "the honest lawyer." A lot of big businessmen are no doubt glad to see him go. He's leaving his job as head of the Anti-Trust Division in the Department of Justice to accept President Eisenhower's appointment as judge of the U. S. Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals.

A couple of good inside stories came out in this session. Deputy Attorney General William P. Rogers, toastmaster of the evening, told how Barnes got his hurry-up confirmation.

He was in town briefly after getting his appointment and asked if his Senate hearing couldn't be held then?

Rogers called Sen. Bill Langer (R-ND), then Senate Judiciary chairman. Langer said no, it was the custom to have a seven-day delay to give people time to file protests.

Rogers was a member of Sigma Chi. He recalled that Langer was also a Sigma Chi and told him that Barnes had been the fraternity's grand counsel. "Send him up at 2 o'clock," said Langer to show how Greek treats Greek.

LANGER CALLED the committee to his office and, though he had never met the man before, introduced him as "qualified for any office, including the presidency of the United States."

"There was no demerit to that," said Rogers. But when Senator Langer went on to say that Barnes had been a substitute lineman for Stanford in the Rose Bowl game against Ohio State, he spoke right up. "Wait a minute, senator," said Barnes. "I was a regular. I started that game."

The committee voted to recommend him unanimously.

Another story that came out had to do with a rush letter on anti-trust matters which Judge Barnes prepared for Congress. There wasn't time for Attorney General Herbert Brownell to read it, so he signed it on assurance that it was all right. Barnes carried it to the hill, presented it and was questioned at some length.

WHEN HE GOT all through, the committee chairman congratulated Barnes in glowing terms. His statement had been clear and to the point. "But there's one thing I wish you'd do," said the chairman. "Try to get the attorney general to understand these things. Here's this letter of his. It's long and confused. Try to explain to him what it's all about."

"Thank you," said Assistant Attorney General Barnes with a straight puss. "I'll try to do that."

Fred Fuller of Toledo, chairman of American Bar Association's anti-trust section, noted that Judge Barnes would hereafter hold court in Los Angeles.

"That's the place," he said. "Where people wake up in the morning smog to hear the birds cough." Fuller also observed that, "Ohio has produced many funny people, but never any funny speakers."

It was Bill Henry, a sports writer in Los Angeles when Barnes was a San Diego high school football star, who pulled the evening's neatest nifty:

"THE VOTERS used to ask what a candidate's principles were. Now they only ask what he's suffering from."

"The only thing that can save Kefauver," said Henry, "is to have a public operation broadcast on 'See It Now.'"

Attorney General Brownell noted that while Barnes had been head of anti-trust, he had investigated eyeglasses, hormones, hair tonics and all the other things that made for a happy life in old age—which he, threupron wished his departing aide.

In acknowledging the tributes from some 600 friends, associates and opposing counsel, Barnes revealed his one big mistake.

When he first came to Washington he announced that if anyone thought he should not be in an anti-trust suit, he should come in for a talk. That let him in for 143 long conferences. No suit was withdrawn. But many were settled out of court.

"The people don't understand what you are doing and neither do the judges," commented former Judge Thurman Arnold, who headed Anti-Trust in the turbulent 1930's. "I can prove this," he said, "by the long list of anti-trust suits which I filed—and lost."

For this and other excellent proposals in the same package by the United States Information Agency and the American labor office.

Suppose we should trim two billions off all those activities the net result of which to date has been the enhancement of Soviet Russia and the hearty destitution of the United States by the peoples of most of the countries which we tried to woo this way since '45. Germany is an exception. The Germans join us in a common hatred of Russia and go on one better by hating the Russians as dirty people. This we lack the candor to do. The Germans do not exactly hate us, but their opinion halts short of admiration because they work harder than we do and at least as well and they knew what they were about in their drive to the east whereas we were a lot of gullible fools and struck them down in the performance of a great service to western civilization.

If we should lop off two billion a year from our futile squandering to redeem Eisenhower's docility in waiving the victory to Soviet Russia in 1945, we could hire two hundred thousand of the best technicians-mechanics in the world for our air force. That would be about twice as many as we would need left of that two-billion-dollar dividend to raise the pay of the officers who actually fly and test our bombers and other machines—all very dangerous duty, calling for daring, devotion and extraordinary mental and physical qualities. That billion would not be enough to make them and their wives entirely content and for that matter, no amount of money could reward them. But they are not getting enough and that billion, plus the basic pay already provided for them and the super-sergeants referred to, would put the air force on a

What's Behind Destruction Of Campaign-Gift Records

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 26—Why were the records of the 1952 campaign contributions of both parties destroyed by order of the Speaker of the House, Samuel Rayburn?

The question is being asked now because the Department of Justice has written to the Speaker of the House and the Vice-President to obtain information concerning the records and apparently has gotten no satisfactory answer. It appears that the grand jury in St. Louis, Mo., the FBI and the Internal Revenue Service are all interested in the records of these campaign contributions in connection with possible prosecutions in some undisclosed cases.

It now can be revealed that the destruction of the records came about in March 1955, when a staff of copyists for "U. S. News and World Report" went to the office of the clerk of the House of Representatives and, in the customary way, began compiling facts for a news story on the size of the contributions and the donors to both parties. In the midst of the copying the records were suddenly removed and, when an explanation was sought, Ralph R. Roberts, clerk of the House, said that, according to the law, they didn't have to be kept longer than two years anyhow and that it was past the two-year mark.

NO EXPLANATION was offered as to why the records were destroyed in the middle of the process of "public inspection" which is provided by law. Here is the memorandum made by a staff member of "U. S. News and World Report" on March 22, 1955, which was just a few days after the records had been removed from public inspection:

Q. Mr. Roberts, in how many Congresses have you been clerk of the House?

A.—Three—the 81st, the 82d, and this, the 84th.

Q.—Before this, what has been your practice about removal of the files containing the list of contributors to the political campaigns? How long did you keep them in the House file before removing them?

A.—I'd have to refresh my memory before I'd answer that.

Q.—Did you order that the files containing lists of contributors to the 1952 Presidential campaign fund be removed from the file room last week?

A.—I did.

Q.—Was that order carried out?

A.—I have been informed it was.

Q.—Could you tell us by whom?

A.—My representatives, my agents.

Q.—What was done with the reports after they were removed? Where they destroyed or merely stored somewhere else?

A.—Destroyed.

Q.—Destroyed, how?

A.—I have been informed that they were burned.

Q.—What prompted such an order at this time, instead of some other time?

A.—The two years had expired at the end of January (1955). It was my opinion the papers had served their usefulness.

Q.—What is the law regarding disposition of such files?

A.—That they shall be kept two years. The law that governs is the subsection of the Corrupt Practices Act which says that campaign papers shall be preserved by the clerk or secretary for a period of two years from the date of filing, shall constitute a part of the public records of his office, and shall be open to public inspection.

Q. THE CONGRESSIONAL Reorganization Act passed in 1946 has a section that applies to your handling of papers. That section says: "The secretary of the Senate and clerk of the House of Representatives are authorized and directed acting jointly to obtain at the close of each Congress all of the non-current records of the Congress and of each committee thereof and transfers them to the National Archives for preservation subject to the orders of the Senate or the House, respectively." would not that section 140 of the reorganization act have some bearing on campaign statements filed with you?

A. No, campaign reports are filed under the Corrupt Practices Act, which merely says the reports shall be kept for two years.

Q. Isn't it a fact that heretofore the campaign expenditure lists were not destroyed but were sent to the archives for permanent filing?

A. Only in one instance to my knowledge, and that was just committee reports. I do not understand that individual reports of candidates were so handled.

Q. Before such files were sent to archives in other years, were they not kept at the Capitol through two full Congresses or four years in all? Various persons who work with official records in the Capitol have told me that this has been the practice.

A. Not to my knowledge.

Q. Could you tell us why you thought it desirable this time that the files not be forwarded to the archives for permanent use of the public?

A. They had served their purpose. They had been kept for two years in all? Various persons who work with official records in the Capitol have told me that this has been the practice.

AS BACKGROUND to all this, the same memorandum makes reference to an article in "The Washington Daily News" in December, 1954, stating that the Department of Justice had started to investigate campaign spending and that agents of the department had already seized stacks of campaign reports, had strewn them around the department and had lawyers busy going through them.

Mr. Roberts, clerk of the House, made an effort at the time to find out if the National Archives office had sent any reports of the 1948 campaign to the Department of Justice but was told that, while these had been requested by it, the request was not granted.

Persons familiar with the way the records have been handled in the past say that it has been customary to keep them available for public inspection through at least two full terms of the House, which would have been in this case through December, 1956. The mystery as to what's back of all this has not yet been revealed but the "right to know" committees of the newspaper editors might possibly look into it.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Tucson, Arizona, June 25—The way to keep trained technicians and mechanics in the Air Force would be to pay them $10,000 a year, exempt from income tax, for their second enlistments. Most of these men are super-sergeants and many of them are family men.

There is no distinct difference between a technician and a mechanic living off-post. But "technician" conjures a fellow learned in the mysteries of black-box electronics and a mechanic is a grease monkey but a genius and a joy. It takes about two and one-half years of the first enlistment to educate their minds and their fingers and this means that the nation actually gets about 18 months of first-class performance out of each man by the time his hitch is finished and, usually, he checks out.

Usually, too, it strongly appears, the little woman is fed up with the slightly inferior social status of enlisted society, even of the highest grades, and puts in her two cents worth on the subject of re-enlistment. And he has offers of jobs in aircraft factories and maintenance plants and radio-TV factories and repair shops. But if the Air Force pay should go up to a little less than $200 a week, exempt from income tax, with a contract for four years' employment, the social status would improve almost automatically and the complexion of life and the shape of the future would change for the better.

This is a drastic proposal and when I exploded it to two colonels of the Air Force at Davis Monthan base, they were grimly non-committal because the topic is "political" and we all know what happens to officers who sound off against policies of the White House. In this case, they would have been transferred to Iceland if they had twitched a lip or a lid because I went on to say that we could find the money professional footing. Career men attached to the service would be indifferent to temptations from the outside.

There is no sense in trying to administer or contemplate the air force in the old-style concept of a military force. It is military and martial, but it is no more an army in the squads-east sense of the word than the public sense agents of the department of sanitation on the streets of New York, who also wear a uniform of sorts but never salute and would be no better white-wings even if they should.

Call the air force a brown-bag army if you will, but if it can keep its flying machines, its magic apparatus and its efficiency in shape to strike back so hard that the enemy never will risk a strike it makes no difference whether the air force carries its lunch to work in a paper bag or sits down to vi-chyssoise and salmon on fine linen.

This may evoke strident comments from the army, navy and marines, the geodetic survey and the bureau of mines. But the air force is in bad shape for money to compete with civilian competition after it has spent enormous chunks of its present meager appropriations to create experts out of greenhorns. It is night impossible right now to keep the bombers fit to fly because so few technician-mechanics re-enlist as most of them would for $10,000 a year with a four-year contract.

UN Rejects Red Bid on Algeria

United Nations, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—The UN Security Council today rejected a surprise Soviet proposal that it postpone indefinitely any discussion of the 19-month-old Algerian conflict.

The vote came after France called for an immediate decision to bar all consideration of the Algerian problem in the 11-nation council. Informed quarters said France had enough support, including the United States and Britain, to keep the issue off the council's agenda. Only Russia voted in favor of an indefinite postponement. The United States, Britain, France, Belgium, Australia, Cuba and Peru voted against it. Iran, Yugoslavia and Nationalist China abstained.

The council meeting was called at the request of 13 Asian and Arab countries. They declared that the French-Algerian fighting was becoming worse and that urgent action was necessary.

YM Schedule Of Activities

An elaborate recreational program for the summer is being planned for the YMCA boys according to an announcement by Frank Rebollo, youth secretary and his assistant, Jack Millard. The program will include trips every Monday to such places as Lake Taconic, Bear Mountain Park, Yankee Stadium, the rodeo and the county fair.

Swimming is scheduled for each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday and instructions will be given every Tuesday and Thursday. Baseball is scheduled every Saturday morning with swimming afterward.

Those interested should contact Mr. Rebollo at the YMCA. The first trip will be planned for July 2 when a group will go to North Lake. The bus will leave the YMCA at 9 a. m. and will leave on the return trip at 5 p. m. Reservations for the outing must be made before June 30.

Activities for the girls as reported by Mr. Rebollo include swimming, instruction every Wednesday and Friday. The pool will be open to all girls who can swim in the afternoons.

A meeting of the board of education will be held on the same night previous to the public budget meeting and it is expected the bond issue for the new construction program, to build three schools within the district, will be approved by the board of education in the amount of slightly over a million dollars. The estimates will be forwarded to Albany on Friday for approval by the New York State Education Department. A bond issue is expected to be held sometime in the early fall.

The annual school meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, July 10.

Blasted Out of Bed

Manlius, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—An explosion today blew a Syracuse man out of bed and through the window of a gasoline station he operates in this Syracuse suburb. His injuries were described as minor burns. He said he picked himself up and went back into the building to get a pet puppy. A fire which followed the explosion wrecked the station and destroyed an automobile, a jeep and a tow truck.

Renews Aid Plea

Washington, June 26 (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles went before a closed session of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today to renew his plea against any drastic action shutting off U. S. Aid to Yugoslavia. In a final effort to save the $4,502,000,000 foreign aid bill from new cuts when it comes up for debate on the Senate floor tomorrow, Dulles also arranged to meet with the Senate GOP Policy Committee at a noon luncheon. The Foreign Relations Committee recently voted 9-5 to include $2,600,000,000 in foreign military assistance funds in the measure. This is 400 million dollars less than the administration asked, but 600 million above what the House voted.

Governors Favor President, Adlai

Atlantic City, June 26 (AP)—Nineteen of the 21 Republican governors signed a petition today formally urging and pledging full support to the renomination and re-election of President Eisenhower.

At the same time, an Associated Press survey of Democratic opinion represented at the 48th annual governors' conference indicated that Adlai E. Stevenson is likely to acquire 400 presidential nominating votes among the 27 states with Democratic chief executives.

Thus Stevenson would have only to break even in the GOP-dominated states to wrap up the nomination on an early ballot at the Democratic convention in Chicago Aug. 13.

Gov. Fred Hall of Kansas circulated the petition pledging Republican governors' to all-out support of Eisenhower. At the time he released it, it lacked only the signatures of Gov. William G. Stratton of Illinois and Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana—both Eisenhower fans.

A Stratton aide said his name would go on shortly and Hall said Craig has left the conference but would sign if he were here.

Funeral Will Be Held on Friday For Admiral King

Portsmouth, N. H., June 26 (AP)—Funeral services for Fleet Adm. Ernest J. King, who died yesterday at the age of 77, will be held Friday at Washington National Cathedral with burial at the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

THE BODY was to be borne by air to the nation's capital today and will be taken to the cathedral tomorrow morning to lie in state with a 24-hour honor guard until the 1 p. m. (EDT) service.

The World War 2 commander of the U. S. Navy died at Portsmouth Naval Hospital of acute heart failure induced by blood pressure, from which he suffered for many years.

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER ordered the passing of his old friend with this statement issued at Walter Reed Army Hospital, Washington, where the President is recovering from an operation: "The nation has lost a great American and an outstanding naval officer."

"As commander-in-chief of our naval forces and as chief of naval operations during World War 2 Adm. King carried his heavy responsibilities with courage, brilliance and continued devotion to duty."

"Mrs. Eisenhower joins me in extending our deepest sympathies to his family."

OTHER MESSAGES of condolence were received by King's family from many parts of the world.

Marines lined the mall of the Portsmouth shipyard as a 17-gun salute boomed while King's body was taken to a Portsmouth funeral home last night before transfer to Washington today.

An honor guard stood vigil with the body at the funeral home during the night.

Rabb Declines to Testify

Washington, June 26 (AP)—White House aide Maxwell Rabb declined today to testify before the Senate Investigations subcommittee. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) called his refusal "inexcusably arrogant" conduct that the Senate should punish as contempt. Rabb, secretary to the cabinet, sent word "there is nothing I can add" to his denial of yesterday that he or any of his staff "leaked" official documents to author Robert J. Donovan. He said "I must respectfully decline" to comply with an invitation that he come in and make that statement under oath, and also tell whether he knows who did give the information to Donovan.

Father Pleads Guilty

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—Henry Shaw Jr., 47, a truck driver, pleaded guilty today to a charge of first degree manslaughter in the killing of his newborn son on March 25, 1950. He will be sentenced July 15. The body of the infant, his throat slit, was found on the grounds of the Hudson River State Hospital. The case remained unsolved until last January when Shaw's wife was arrested on a charge of concealing the birth of a stillborn infant. Police said Shaw admitted killing his son while being questioned about the concealment charge against his wife.

Condition Still Fair—Nappi, 18, of Corona, L. I., was reported as fair at Benedictine Hospital today. Miss Nappi suffered injuries to her head, face and knees when a scooter, owned by George W. Gardner of Saugerties, was involved in an accident Wednesday, June 20 on the Mt. Marion-Veteran road. She was a passenger on the scooter.

Marsala Claims Beatings Made Him Confess
Newburgh, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—Joseph Marsala, one of two men charged with the murder of a former Fall River, Mass., boxer, has testified that relays of state troopers beat a confession out of him.

Marsala and George Ruocco, both 26, are on trial in Orange County Court charged with the slaying of ex-welterweight Al Frias.

At yesterday's session, a purported confession by Ruocco of his alleged part in the killing was accepted into evidence. It was offered for evidence by State Police Sgt. William J. Adams.

As Adams prepared to introduce a similar statement allegedly signed by Marsala, Defense Attorney Martin Rosenblum asked and got permission to present four witnesses. One was Marsala.

Marsala told of being taken to the Hawthorne, N. Y., state police barracks following his arrest in New York city last Aug. 5. He said troopers beat him throughout the night.

Marsala said that at 8 a. m. the following morning he "couldn't take it any more" and agreed to sign a statement about the Frias slaying. He said the statement was dictated by Adams.

Three defense witnesses who visited Marsala several days later testified that they had found him bruised.

Court was adjourned after Marsala's testimony. The defense maneuver prevented immediate introduction of Marsala's purported confession and laid the ground for objections if the prosecution should try to introduce it again.

Ruocco's statement, accepted as evidence, said he and Marsala met Frias in a New York bar the night of April 21, 1955, and agreed to sell him $20,000 in counterfeit money for $6,000 in legal cash.

The three drove to Orange county that night, the statement said, and Frias got into an argument with Marsala, who was in the back seat.

Ruocco heard a shot and Frias slumped over, the statement continued; Ruocco stopped the car and Marsala pushed the body overboard.

The State contends Ruocco and Marsala murdered Frias for the money he had with him.

Encouragement Needed

Washington, June 26 (AP)—An educator said today young people aren't being attracted to the home economics field because "homemaking—the very occupation for which the profession trains—is drawing off likely candidates." "We can ill afford to complain at the product of our own making," Catherine T. Dennis said in remarks prepared for the opening session of the 47th annual convention of the American Home Economics Assn. Rather, said Miss Dennis, president of the association and North Carolina supervisor of home economics education, the answer lies in making the profession more attractive by better pay, more opportunities and encouragement.

Insurance Head Dies

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 26 (AP)—John P. Smith, 80, manager of the Poughkeepsie District office of the Prudential Insurance Co. of America, died in Vassar Hospital last night after a heart attack. Smith came here in 1951 from Yonkers where he had been Prudential's district manager. He leaves his widow, a son and a daughter. Funeral services will be held here Friday.

Requirements

A motorist must have a driver's license, six good tires, $100 in cash, and an accident policy, to travel the Alaska highway by private car. To refuse help for someone stranded along the road is a serious violation of unwritten law in the Yukon.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 26 (AP)—Prices improved slowly in the stock market early this afternoon.

Leading issues moved ahead from fractions to around a point. A few stepped beyond this and there was a scattering of losses.

It was a continuation of recent sluggish trading days.

Private Business Under Attack Outside 'Curtain'

Chicago, June 26 (AP)—A business consultant said today that the private enterprise system is under attack in many countries outside the Iron Curtain.

A. M. Strong, consultant to the American National Bank and Trust Co., Chicago, said in a prepared statement at a forum sponsored by the Illinois Manufacturers' Assn.:

"Nationalization, confiscatory taxes, stringent labor laws and government encroachment is practiced by many nations in the Democratic camp. Our own government is heavily engaged in commercial and industrial activities."

He added that the federal government's commercial enterprises numbered 19,771 last month, with capital assets of approximately 12 billion dollars.

He said the shortage of dollars is one of the greatest obstacles in international commerce, having "practically closed our market in leading Latin American countries and is affecting our sales in most countries of the world."

Merger Try Rejected

Hollywood, June 26 (AP)—A proposal to merge with television and radio performers has been turned down by the Screen Actors Guild. Merger would promote live TV at the expense of video movies, Guild President Walter Pidgeon said in a report to 9,000 fellow actors. "A one-big-union merger would make the live versus film argument an internal one for the union," he added.

Mollet Backed on Taxes

Paris, June 26 (AP)—The French National Assembly today gave Premier Guy Mollet an easy 275-121 vote of confidence on higher transportation taxes. Both are viewed as routine measures with no danger for the government, and are the 19th and 20th since Mollet took office in January.

Nasser Desires Good Relations For Egypt and U.S.

Cairo, Egypt, June 26 (AP)—Gamal Abdel Nasser, on his first day as president of Egypt, declared his country wants friendly relations with the United States and "for my part, I will do all I can."

THE NEWLY elected chief executive made his statement in an interview with Mrs. Alicia Patterson, editor and publisher of the Long Island, N. Y., newspaper Newsday.

"We want the American people to understand us," Nasser said. "This will help for good relations and friendship between the peoples of the United States and the peoples of Egypt. We want friendly relations."

"AT THE SAME time, we want to be completely independent. We Egyptians are good people if you understand us... I have tried since the revolution to create a good basis for cooperation and amity by all means in my power... Egypt still desires to have friendly relations with the United States and I for my part will do all I can."

Nasser's office was thronged with visitors congratulating him after he officially was proclaimed president yesterday under a new constitution. He was the only candidate in the election Saturday and won 99.9 per cent of the vote.

Tax on Whisky Stored Away Is Claimed Illegal

Pittsburgh, June 26 (AP)—Is a tax levied on bonded whisky at the end of eight years under a federal "force-out" law a direct property tax, or is it a tax on the distilling process itself?

These questions were raised yesterday in Federal District Court by attorneys for the government and two subsidiaries of Schenley Industries, Inc.—Schenley Distillers, Inc., and Joseph S. Finch & Co.

RESPONSIBILITY for the decision rests with a statutory court comprised of Judge Austin Staley of the Third U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals, and U. S. District Judges John L. Miller and John W. McIlvaine.

The Schenley interests seek an injunction prohibiting the government from enforcing the "force-out" provision of the Internal Revenue code.

This provision requires the distiller to pay a tax of $10.50 per gallon on whisky stored in government warehouses at the end of eight years. It is estimated the nation's distillers have about 50,000,000 gallons of spirits in storage on which the tax would be $525,000,000.

Schenley attorneys, headed by Thomas E. Dewey, former governor of New York and two-time Republican presidential candidate, contended that the levy is a direct property tax and therefore unconstitutional.

DEWEY TOLD the court that Congress lacks the power to levy such a tax which, he said, is not apportioned among the states in accordance with population.

Schenley also claims the government already has collected illegally $117,559,426 in whisky taxes under the "force-out" provision.

The government argued that the tax was not on property owned by the distiller, as Schenley contended, but rather it is a tax on the distilling process.

Benjamin H. Pester, one of three attorneys representing the government, said: "Putting the spirits in bond merely postpones the time of payment."

Dewey told the court that the disputed law was in effect an excise tax and that it amounted to

Parents May Be Reason for Poor Readers, He Says

Chicago, June 26 (AP)—If Junior is a poor reader, Ma and Pa may be largely to blame.

Prof. William S. Gray, director of reading research at the University of Chicago, said today that adults set the pattern of reading interest for their children.

Studies have shown, he said, that children of professional or business men usually are among those showing the widest reading interest.

THE LOWEST LEVEL of reading interest, he went on, is found among children in "lower" class families.

In a prepared speech and interview at the 19th annual conference on reading at the University, he made these comparisons:

In many families the practice of reading is firmly established in the home. The parents also discuss such matters as travel, world problems and civic improvement.

From this example in the home, the child comes to believe that reading will satisfy his interests.

IN SO CALLED back-of-the-yards areas, however, little, if any, reading is done in some of the homes. Activity is centered on gang life and physical aggression. The children in such homes are interested in immediate pleasures and satisfactions.

Gray said teachers can come to the rescue in such situations by "building a background" in the classrooms that will convince such children that reading will satisfy their needs.

HE SAID this can be done if a teacher recognizes the social environment affecting some children's attitudes toward reading.

The teacher then should strive to arouse the interest in each child through classroom activities that can be satisfied by reading and by providing material with a variety of themes.

More than 1,000 reading teachers, librarians and school administrators are attending the conference on "Developing Permanent Interest in Reading."

confiscation of property. The court took the arguments under advisement.

Auto Makers Are Accused for Speed

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26 (AP)—Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland today accused automobile manufacturers of having plunged "headlong into a horsepower derby of death and destruction."

He warned that states may be forced to counterattack with laws limiting the horsepower and speed of cars unless there is some change.

"We build into our roads all of the safety devices that engineering skill can devise and the tycoons of internal combustion build more and more speed into their vehicles," McKeldin told a panel on highways and highway safety at the National Governors Conference.

"Even worse they come dangerously close to advocating the use of that lethal speed."

"A few days ago, Maryland citizens heard a radio announcer in a public service spot urging careful driving and reduced speed.

"Then John Wayne of the wide open ranges of the wide screen, who is old enough to know better, came on the air with a commercial about a popular car that 'takes off like a scared antelope.'"

McKeldin also told in his prepared speech of a television announcer "gleefully and enthusiastically" demonstrating how fast the car he was advertising could pass the "fast moving vehicle ahead."

"I am sure that a lot of the wild asses of the macadam immediately took to the wheel to put his claim to the test and that others tried to best it with cars of other makes," he added.

"I assure you I am not advocating censorship by law of automobile advertising, but if the makers and sellers of automobiles do not reverse their positions and help us, instead of hindering us, in our safety campaigns, the states may be forced to counterattack and reduce the power and the speed of modern motor vehicles by statute."

SELFISH USE OF TELEPHONE

Today's first letter tells me: "Will you please write something in your column about the inconsiderateness of those who share a party line and who carry on endless conversations with their friends? I happen to share a party line with just such a person and practically every time I go to use the telephone she is having a conversation with someone. The other day I tried for almost an hour to use the telephone and finally had to go out and use a public telephone. A word from you on the subject might help."

I cannot too strongly condemn here the utter selfishness of anyone's taking so much more than her share of a party line.

An Uncertain Acceptance

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I received an invitation to a wedding taking place in three weeks. My husband travels a good deal and there is a possibility that he may be away at that time. If he is not, he would like very much to go to the wedding. However, since there is some doubt about his being here, must I decline the invitation, or may I accept tentatively?

Answer: To a general party you would not be wrong in accepting for your husband. If later on you find he will be away, you can then telephone and explain.

Mrs. John or Mrs. Mary
Dear Mrs. Post: I am secretary of a club and my problem is this: When sending notices or announcements to the newspapers in connection with the club, how are names of the members given? Should it be Mrs. Mary Smith or Mrs. John Smith? I am not at all sure about this and would very much appreciate your telling me which is correct.

Answer: If it is social club you call her Mrs. John Smith—if profession she may prefer to be known as Mrs. Mary Smith.

The music, receiving line, wedding cake and toast to the happy couple are described in leaflet E-2, "Formal Wedding Procedure." Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. ## Petri-Schmid Nuptials Are Held

Miss Elizabeth Anne Petri, daughter of Mrs. Mildred Petri of 24 New street and the late Charles A. Petri, became the bride of George Ronald Schmid, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Ronald Schmid, of Route 4, Box 193, Kingston, Sunday, June 24, 2:30 p. m. at Immanuel Evangelical Lutheran Church. The Rev. Ernest L. Witte performed the double ring ceremony.

Mrs. Robert Motrie was at the organ and John Koch sang "Because." Miss Emily Flowers sang "Oh, Perfect Love."

Palms and vases of white snapdragons decorated the church for the occasion. White satin bows marked the pews.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Walter L. Thiel of 139 Pine Grove avenue.

Miss Petri wore a gown of white embroidered tulle, styled with an Empire bodice, short sleeves with matching gauntlets and a sabrina neckline. Her bouffant skirt terminated in a sweep train. The French illusion veil was secured to a bridal crown of crushed tulle edged with seed pearls. The bride carried a long tapered cascade of white lilies with a center of pale pink lilies.

Mrs. Carol Snyder of 16 Mary's avenue was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of maize nylon chiffon, fashioned with a shirred and molded bodice, sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. Her full skirt was floor length and she wore a crown of braided horsehair to which was attached a circular tulle veil. Mrs. Snyder carried a garden bouquet of quince branches, pink roses and pink lilies.

Bridesmaids were Miss Karen Van Alstyne of 182 Elmendorf street and Miss Elizabeth Ortlieb, 12 New street. Their ballet blue gowns were identical in styling to the honor attendant and they carried the same styled bouquets.

William M. Bryant of Cottekill was the best man. Ushers included Albert H. Studdt, 30 Derrenbacher street and Walter Buddenhagen, 12 Mary's avenue.

Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held at the Capri in Port Ewen for approximately 100 guests.

Miss Petri is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1956, and is employed by IBM in Kingston.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Kingston High School, class of 1950, and the Morrisville Agricultural and Technical Institute. He served two years in the U. S. Army and is now employed by IBM in Poughkeepsie.

For her wedding trip to Canada, the bride chose a blue print voile dress with white accessories and a pink rose corsage.

The couple will reside at 16 Mary's avenue.

3-Year Compromise Hinted for Steel

New York, June 26 (AP)—Steel industry and union negotiating teams met again today amid increasing speculation concerning the possibility of a compromise three-year contract.

That would be two years less than the term that management has proposed and that the United Steel Workers have rejected. It would be one year longer than the steel workers have settled for in the past.

Management officials recently have refrained from using the word "final" in reference to their five-year proposal. And some union circles in Pittsburgh have asked the union negotiators to accept a three-year settlement.

Meeting Tonight
On Converting
Hail Into Rain

Representatives of a five county area of the mid-Hudson valley apple growing section will meet this evening at the State Experimental Laboratory off Violet avenue, Poughkeepsie, to form a permanent organization which will have jurisdiction over the proposed hail dispelling program.

Walter Schreiber of Red Hook has been acting as temporary chairman of the group and it is expected a board of directors will be elected this evening and a permanent organization formed.

The cost of a cloud seeding operation which will change possible hail to rain and thereby eliminate hail damage to fruit, has been placed at $60,000, practically all of which has been raised by the fruit growers in the Ulster, Orange, Dutchess, Columbia and Greene county area about which a circle of some 100 stations will be placed by the Westher Modification Company of San Jose, California.

Cloud seeding generators will send silver iodine into the sky when hail threatens. The plan is to change the solid hail into rain and save fruit growers vast sums from damage.

House Approves
$33 Billion Bill
For U.S. Highways

Washington, June 26 (AP)—The biggest road building program in the nation's history—$33 billion dollars for broad, straight highways criss-crossing the country—was passed by the House today.

With it goes a higher $14,800,000,000 tax bill for the next 16 years for motorized America to make the 13-year program pay-as-you-ride.

The House passed the conference report on the program by voice vote in a few minutes and with no debate.

The measure now has to be approved by the Senate.

Louise Brough Wins

Wimbledon, England, June 26 (AP)—Louise Brough, the defending champion and top-seeded player, opened the women's singles play in the Wimbledon Tennis championships today with a 35-minute, 6-0, 6-0 victory over Jean Forbes of South Africa. It was a second round match. Miss Brough, seeking her fifth Wimbledon singles title, had drawn a first round bye. She never was in danger against the 16-year-old Miss Forbes, who won only nine points in the first set and 17 in the second. Only three games went to deuce.

Army Takes Over
Following Fatal
Guatemala Rift

Guatemala, June 26 (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas put the army in control of Guatemala today after demonstrations in which four students were killed.

The president declared a state of siege—modified form of martial law. The army, assuming control, asked the cooperation of the people to avoid further clashes.

The deaths came last night during student demonstrations on the capital's main street against a government crackdown on Communist agitation. In addition to the dead there were 17 wounded.

The police fired submachine-guns and pistols into the ranks of several hundred students who were marching toward the government palace. About half the marchers were girls.

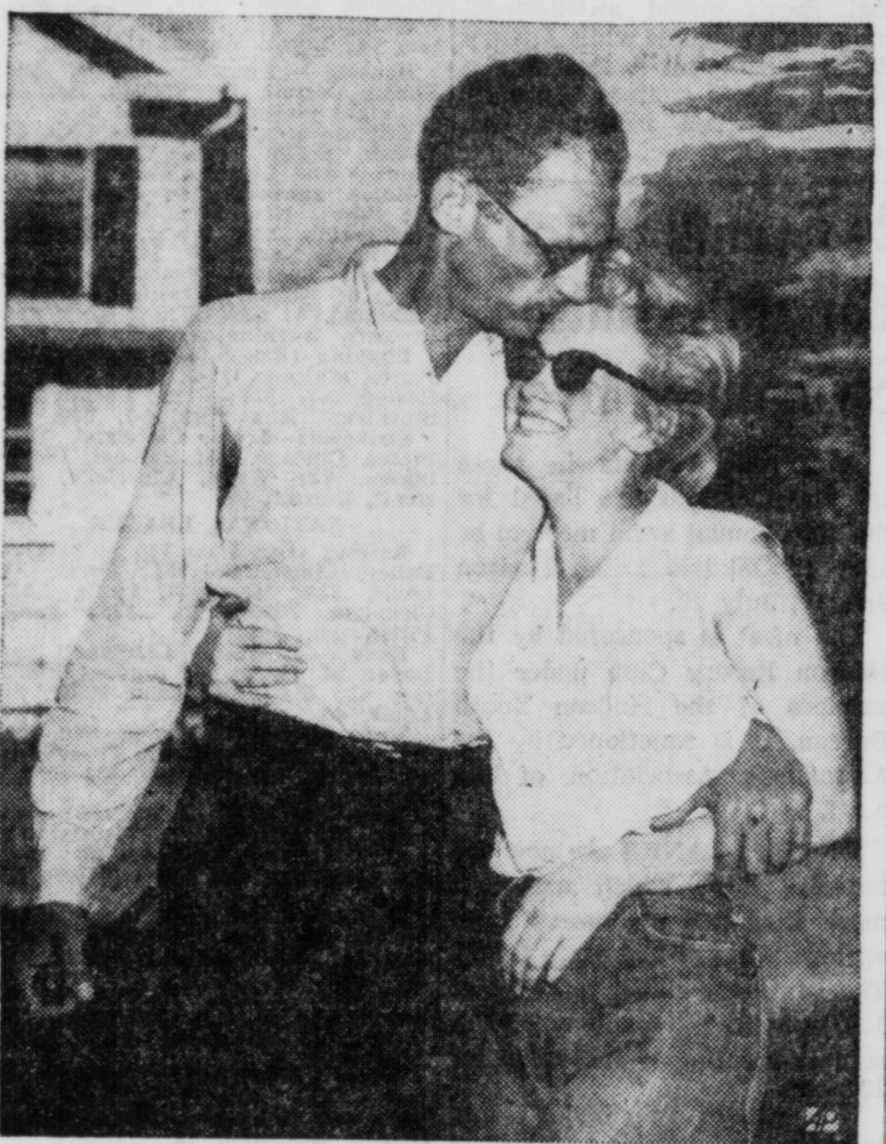

The students were protesting curtailment of civil liberties under a "state of alarm" imposed by the president on Sunday. The government charged the students with spreading Communist propaganda.

Riverama Due

Purpose of the diorama is to show the vital role played by crushed stone products in everyday life. The attractive diorama, as well as the other components of Riverama, is the work of the Ivel Corporation, which designed and executed many exhibits for the New York Coliseum.

Another feature that has proved highly popular is the display showing the geological history and formations of the Hudson valley area. It contains samples of most of the various rock found in the valley—all mounted on an upright panel. A color relief map of the valley from Poughkeepsie to New York harbor shows the origin of each of the rock specimens. Cross sections of the region's geological formations portray the makeup of the valley below ground as well as above. Assembled by Kurt E. Lowe, professor of geology at City College of New York, the exhibit has been called by many noted authorities one of the finest ever made and the most up-to-date and authoritative portrayal of the Hudson Valley.

One entire side of Riverama's interior is devoted to the story of the stone industry—how stone is won from the earth, processed and shipped to market.

Armstrong's Two Homers Pace Eagles' 6-3 Win Over Kids

Slugging First Sacker Belts In Four Tallies

Marable Decisions Benjamin on Hill

Johnny Armstrong, a lithe young man who hits the ball as far as any local ball player when he connects, was in a connecting mood in the City League yesterday.

The Kingston Eagle first sacker slammed a pair of 2-run homers to play the hero's role in his team's 6 to 3 romp over the fast fading Saugerties Whiz Kids.

EDDIE KITHCART was on base each time Armstrong hit for the circuit—in the first and third innings. Lee Kithcart drove in the other pair with a double.

In hitting two circuit clouts, Armstrong joined an elite group. Aside from Tommy Carline of the Jones Dairy squad he is the only player to crack two home runs in a City League contest in recent years.

ARMSTRONG'S slugging eased the path for Ted Marable's decision over Joe Benjamin. Each pitcher allowed only four hits but Marable had power on his side as the Eagles moved above the .500 mark with three wins against two setbacks. All three runs off Marable were unearned.

Marable fanned three and walked five. He yielded his third run in the top of the seventh when Mike Iannone hit into a fielder's choice with the bases loaded. Benjamin struck out 8 and walked two.

Jerry Brice slammed two singles for the Whiz Kids, who scored twice in the fifth on Rizzo's 2-run single behind an error, at wild pitch and a walk.

JONES DAIRY (3-0) tries to bolster its record against Ellenville (0-3) in this evening's game.

An important league meeting for managers and officials will be held following Thursday's game at the Athletic Field.

Crandall Newest Brave Hero As Winning Skein Goes to 11

BY ED WILKS

(By The Associated Press)

Picking the big guy in Milwaukee's slightly fantastic comeback in the National League pennant chase is like stepping on ants. Tag one and there are two more to take his place. The Braves simply have a new hero everyday.

It was catcher Del Crandall's turn last night, laying down a squeeze bunt that got the winning run home as the Braves scored three in the ninth inning to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-5.

THAT MADE IT 11 in a row for Milwaukee under Manager Fred Haney, who either is the manager of the year or a whale of an opportunist. It also retained the Braves' two-game lead as second place Cincinnati rallied to drop Pittsburgh into fifth place 2-1 and third place Brooklyn scored two unearned runs to overhaul Chicago's Cubs 3-2.

The St. Louis Cardinals, idle along with New York's Giants, moved into fourth as the Pirates lost their ninth decision in the last 10.

In the American League, the New York Yankees buried their four-game losing streak under 14 hits, including four home runs, to beat Kansas City 9-3 and take a 1½-game edge over Chicago, the idle runnerup. Washington added to the Tigers' tailspin, handing Detroit its ninth straight defeat 5-3 in the only other A.L. game scheduled.

Since Haney moved up from coach to boss, replacing Charlie Grimm 10 days ago, no less than eight Braves have accounted for the winning runs in the 11-game sprint that has led from fifth place to first.

JOE ADCOCK drove in the run that started it all with his ninth-inning home run that beat Brooklyn in the first game of a June 17 doubleheader. Then it was Bobby Thomson who got the winning run home. Then Hank Aaron. Then Billy Bruton. Next came Danny O'Connell and Eddie Mathews. Then O'Connell again. Then Johnny Logan. Then Crandall. Only twice in the 11 games have the Braves scored the clinching run on an error.

Willie Jones set up Crandall's winning hit last night with a three-run homer in the eighth that tied it at 5-all for the Phils. But Logan opened the ninth with a double, went to third on Andy Pafko's bunt single and then came slamming home on Crandall's lay-down. Aaron's sacrifice fly and a single by Thomson got the two extra runs home.

Rookie Norm Siebern homered twice for the Yanks, who also had homers from Hank Bauer and Joe Collins as Johnny Kucks won his 10th with a nine-hitter. Yogi Berra ended an 0-for-23 slump with a double while Mickey Mantle went 4-for-5, including a perfect 2-for-2 against the shift leaved by A's manager Lou Soudreau.

Don Kaiser, who two-hit the Dodgers three weeks ago, gave Brooklyn only four hits in his 7 1/3 innings last night, but No. 4 was Junior Gilliam's triple which was sandwiched between two errors and produced the tying and winning runs in the eighth. Carl Erskine won with Clem Labine's help—the 18th straight game in which the Dodger starter has failed to finish.

Yogi Berra ended an 0-for-23 slump with a double while Mickey Mantle went 4-for-5, including a perfect 2-for-2 against the shift leaved by A's manager Lou Soudreau.

Don Kaiser, who two-hit the Dodgers three weeks ago, gave Brooklyn only four hits in his 7 1/3 innings last night, but No. 4 was Junior Gilliam's triple which was sandwiched between two errors and produced the tying and winning runs in the eighth. # Knights of Columbus Downs VFW, 10-4, in FYL Opener

Graying, a little stockier, but dapper, a former Kingston professional basketball immortal watched the shenanigans below him from the Dietz Stadium pressbox a night last week.

And in case you haven't heard, the folderol contrived by the Indianapolis Clowns and Black Yankees was something to behold.

Benny Borgmann, who with the late Carl Husta, ranks as Kingston's greatest contribution to professional basketball, was in town on a bird dog trip for the St. Louis Cardinals.

Specifically, Benny was here to look over the Black Yankee second baseman. The man never showed. Maybe Frank Lane of the front office got to him first. But Borgmann did have time to chat a few minutes with Joey Hoffman Jr. and promised the slugging high school first sacker a tryout in the next few days.

The conversation was naturally limited to baseball and basketball, with just a sprinkling of nostalgia tossed in for good measure. "I get the feeling that I'm back home whenever I come to Kingston," Benny sighed.

It was his sports "home" in the 1920's when with the Husta brothers—Carl and Mickey—the Bowers, boys George and Artie, Nick Harvey and others he led Kingston to the world's professional basketball crown in a thrilling series with the Original Celtics of Holman-Beckman-Dehnert et al.

As most old timers and basketball artists, Borgmann deplores the lack of defense in the modern game. Individual totals today run higher than team totals in Borgmann's heyday.

"There is no question basketball players of today are better shooters," he said. "But basketball is only a 'half game' these days. There's no offense and the basket comes too cheaply."

Borgmann coached at Muhlenberg University, a small time power in Pennsylvania, then quit the post. "I just lost interest in modern basketball," he went on.

What about modern titans like George Mikan and Bob Cousy? How would they have fared in Borgmann's time?

"They're contrasting types," Benny observed, "but both would have made it. Mikan was a big man, mobile and rugged and would have scored against any kind of opposition. It wouldn't have been so easy for Cousy who is a fancy dan type. Guys like Gaze Chizmadia and Rusty Saunders would have showed the ball down Bob's throat a couple times and that would have ended the fancy dribbling and back passing."

Borgmann predicted Jackie Brads was the real pawn in the recent 4-for-4 trade between the Cards and Giants. Jackie is a solid player and should develop into a real major league star.

Time has treated the old basketball star with grace. He is the picture of health after nearly 40 years on the sports trail. He was a member of the fabulous Doherty Silk Sox of Paterson, played with and against the original Kingston Colonials and advanced through the Cardinal farm system up to Rochester of the International League. He later managed the junior Red Birs. All of his time is taken up with scouting these days "and it keeps me jumping."

As often happens with a big time athletic star, Borgmann is something of a frustrated father. He and Mrs. Borgmann are parents of one son, a robust 6-foot-2 specimen.

"For years we'd dream about developing a major league player or a basketball star. We saw our youngster develop into a beautiful physical specimen."

"Baseball? Basketball? Football? Golf?"

"He didn't go for any of them," Benny sighed with an air of resignation. "He turned out to be an opera buff."

American Golfers Advance In British Women's Amateur

Canadians Lead Hogan and Snead In Canada Cup

Sunningdale, England, June 26 (AP)—Blonde Barbara Romack of Sacramento, Calif., defeated Mrs. Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, 8 and 7 in an All-American first round match in the British Women's Amateur golf championship today.

Mrs. Philip Cudone of Montclair, N. J., was eliminated in the first round by Dorothea Somerville of Britain, 3 and 1.

Both Miss Romack, 1954 American Women's champion and runner-up for the British title last year, and Mrs. Cudone are members of the U. S. Curtis Cup team which recently lost to Britain.

Mrs. Cudone, shooting the front nine of the par 36-72 Sunningdale course in 39, was three down at the turn. She recovered on the back nine to trail by one hole at the 15th then bogeyed the 16th and 17th to lose out.

MISS ROMACK had an easy time against Mrs. Stranahan who was playing in her first major championship and who was handicapped by a fractured little finger on her left hand.

Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore was the fourth U. S. Curtis Cup player to win her opening match, scoring an impressive 5 and 4 victory over Jane Redgate of Britain.

Polly Riley of North Worth, Tex., scored a 3 and 2 victory over Britain's Mrs. Sarah Bolton although she was not playing her usual sharp approach game. Polly was two up at the turn and went three up by scoring a neat par three at the tricky 13th. They halved the holes the rest of the way.

Margaret (Wiffi) Smith, 19-year-old golf club secretary from St. Clair, Mich., barely squeezed out a 1-up victory over England's Mrs. Esme Stuart Smith, a woman twice her age.

The powerful Miss Smith, recently crowned French woman's champion, took a 3-up lead after nine holes and seemed to be winning easily. Then she flubbed a tee shot that traveled only 50 yards into the rough at the 14th. While she saved a half on the hole, the stroke seemed to unsettle her.

5-Run Fourth Overcomes Early Vets Advantage

The Knights of Columbus made an auspicious debut in the Fraternal Youth League, romping to a 10-4 opening night victory over the VFW last evening at Dietz Stadium.

A disappointing first night turnout of less than 100 watched the newest member of the eight-team circuit erupt for five runs in the fourth frame to claim the decision. To make sure, they added three more in the sixth to post the first FYL victory of the season.

Both clubs played ragged ball, but can be excused since many of the boys had the inaugural jitters. Errors and walks were predominant as the teams collectively amassed only 11 hits.

The Knights hopped off to a 2-0 lead in the first frame when an infield error with the bases jammed permitted the runs to cross. A pair of walks and a sun-single by Ron Secreto set the stage.

The VFW, who probably will be the running club in the loop, went wild on the bases in the second and fourth frames to take over the lead. In the second, Jerry McDonough walked and Dick Strong reached base on a boot. McDonough counted the first run when starter Walt Harder wild pitched. Strong went to third on the play and then stole home to knot it.

Strong got the Vets first hit to lead off the fourth and then stole second. Paul Gardner got on through a miscue. A throwing error by catcher Van Montafia let Strong score and Guy Tirums' single registered Gardner for a 4-2 lead.

Tom Daley, who pitched the first three frames, was lifted in the fourth in favor of southpaw Gardner. The Knights gleefully greeted Gardner and before the smoke cleared had their five runs and the game.

Gardner started his own downfall by walking Montafia and hitting Bill McDermott with a pitched ball. Frank Browne went safe on a fielder's choice play to load the sacks. Secreto then rifled a ball through the drawn in infield for a base-clearing triple which broke the backs of the Vets. He scored on a boot. Vin Cioni capped the rally with a liner to left which skipped past the outfielders and went for a homer.

Two walks, Harder's single and Cioni's double got the Knights' last three runs over. Meanwhile, Secreto, who had replaced Harder in the fifth, held the Vets at bay.

Tonight's actions pit the Rotary against the American Legion at 6:15.

CLASSROOM TECHNIQUE—Area college students who only a few weeks ago sat in classes are shown here in a telephone "school" at 519 Broadway. The nomenclature of the telephone is of real interest to these boys, some of 30 students who will put dials on telephones in Kingston and Saugerties this year in preparation for dial service late next year. The instructors are William Palen displaying a telephone, and Donald Genther. (Lipgar photo).

Students Start

dial operation. Telephone representatives in the business office at 14 Henry street will continue their calls until all customers have been contacted.

Besides equipping telephones in Kingston and Saugerties with dials, the college boys are prepared to offer customers a selection of color telephones in eight decorator colors, extension telephones and special ringing and signaling equipment.

The telephone company has notified customers of substantial savings at this time on color sets and extensions if the orders are placed when the representatives call or when the installer-repairman visits the home to place the dial on the telephone. Mr. Dalton said the company has waived both the usual charge for substituting a color telephone for a black one, and the installation charge on an extension telephone for residence customers.

"We hope many of our customers will take advantage of this opportunity to obtain these additional telephone services at savings to themselves," Mr. Dalton said.

To prepare the students for their temporary telephone work, the company opened a school at 519 Broadway, a leased building that has become the center of preparations for the change to dial service.

From June 18 through Monday the fledgling installer-repairmen went to class from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. to learn about their temporary telephone jobs.

They were instructed on how best to install a telephone or telephones in a customer's house or office, learned the 472 parts of the modern-day telephone and listened to telephone company instructors expound on the importance of safety. "The safest way to do the job is the best way," they were told.

Now they are applying all they've been taught about preparing the customer's telephone for dial operation and providing customers with the "niceties"—extra telephone products and services—that make telephone service that much more valuable and useful, the telephone company manager pointed out.

Initially, the boys will be accompanied on their house visits by acting foremen—local installer-repairmen of the telephone company who were instructors in the school and who will supervise the students' telephone work.

Five six-man crews, each headed by an acting foreman, will work in the areas of Kingston and Saugerties having the highest concentration of telephones. Rural areas will be visited in the fall by regular telephone employees.

Two students in each group have been designated as drivers. All have passed the same rigid driving and safety tests the telephone company prescribes for its regular drivers.

Of the 30 college boys, more than half are engineering students with the others representing practically every other academic field, including medicine. They attend the following colleges and universities: American International, Clarkson, Connecticut, Cornell, Indiana, Ithaca, Johns Hopkins, Maine, Manhattan, Michigan State, Norwich, Orange County College, Penn State, RPI, St. Lawrence, Syracuse, Union and the College of Medicine, State University of New York.

"Dean" of the entire operation is Daniel E. Fitzsimmons of Woodstock, supervising service foreman with the telephone company, who is in charge of the change to dial service in the two communities. He began his telephone career in Kingston in 1945.

School Budget

seven cents per mile to Miss Lulu May Roberts up to a maximum of $200 a year. Miss Roberts is music instructor in the city schools.

Recommendation by the Elementary Cabinet that the award of perfect attendance certificates be discontinued was approved by the board. It was explained that school administrators felt it did more harm than good and was probably outmoded. A good school program is the best encouragement for good pupil attendance, Mr. Soper pointed out.

THE BOARD APPROVED use of 16 rooms and the cafeteria at Kingston High School by IBM for a two-week period beginning July 16. IBM will pay janitorial fees and other costs and will donate $400 to the scholarship fund, it was reported.

The board took cognizance of letters from Miss Anne E. Whalen and Raymond H. Woodard expressing appreciation for the banquet tendered city school held by former mayor George P. Holmes. Mr. Holmes' term expires this year and although he has not filed for reelection, a spokesman for Mr. Holmes told the Freeman that the former mayor will seek reelection on the board.

The election of the board will be held Wednesday, July 11 from 12 noon to 10 p. m. at the high school building on Main street.

The terms of Mrs. Mary Lasher and Ernest E. Schirmer also expire this year and both have filed petitions indicating they are candidates for reelection. The vacancies are for three year terms.

A source close to the Saugerties school situation told the Freeman today that other petitions for the three positions will be filed before the deadline Thursday.

Last year at this time the various active groups concerned with the school problems adopted by mutual agreement a policy in regard to selecting nominees for the positions on the board.

Prior to the vote on centralization an attempt was made among representatives from the various school district areas to allow for proportional representation.

The present board is composed of four members from the village and five from the rest of the centralization district. The geographic areas have been set up on the basis of the size of school population through agreement of the Citizens' Advisory

Group of six areas as follows:

District one, village of Saugerties; district two, Glasco; district three, Flatbush, Glenrie,

Mount Marion, High Woods and Daisy; district four, Fish Creek, Pine Grove, Blue Mountain, Vet-
